

INTRODUCTION

What is it? Reading with your child is an important part of his/her reading development. Summer Reading is an opportunity for students to choose what they want to read and how they want to engage with their books.

Avoid the "Summer Slide": Research has shown that students who do not read over the summer have the tendency to lose some of the learning growth they made during the previous school year.

NOTE TO FAMILIES

Summer Reading is an opportunity to help your child develop a lifelong love of reading, while supporting and strengthening all of his/her hard work from the previous school year, setting him/her up for success in the fall!

Getting Started: Talk with your child about the importance of summer reading!

The Super 7 Effective Reading Habits

Make Connections: When I read I think "That reminds me of..."

Create Images: When I read "I picture in my mind..."

Infer: Even though it isn't said in the text, when I read "I know..." "I think..." or "I am guessing that..." or "I predict..."

Monitor for Meaning: When I get confused when I read "I can..." and "Let me review what I know..."

Determine Importance: When I read "I know the detail I just read is important because..."

Synthesize: When I read I notice things are connected and "I know this is a big idea because..." or "Aha..."

Questioning: When I read I ask myself questions about the book such as "I wonder why..." or "I am curious about..."

Notice and Note

Stop and ask yourself...

Contrasts & Contradictions: When a character says or does something that is opposite (contradicts) what you expect them to do ask yourself, "Why is the character acting this way?" This could help you make a prediction or an inference about the plot and conflict.

Again & Again: When notice a word, phrase, object, or situation mentioned over and over again, ask yourself, "Why does this keep showing up again and again?" This will tell you about the theme and conflict, or it might foreshadow what will happen later.

Memory Moment: When the author interrupts the action with a flashback to the past and tells you a memory, ask yourself, "Why might this memory be important?" This will tell you about the theme, conflict, or it might foreshadow what will happen later.

Aha Moment: When a character realizes, understands, or finally figures something out, ask yourself, "How might this change things?" If the character solved a problem you discovered the conflict; if the character understood a life lesson, you discovered a theme.

Words of the Wiser: When a character takes the main character aside and gives advice, ask yourself, "What's the life lesson, and how might it affect the character?" Whatever the lesson is, you've probably found a theme for the story.

Tough Questions: When a character asks himself a difficult question, ask yourself, "What does this question make me wonder about?" This will help you predict will happen later in the story.

Step 4: Complete a Reading Log!

Complete a Reading Log for the books you have read to/with your child. Have fun sharing what you read!

- Title/Author
- Read To/With
- Comment: what your child liked, found interesting, was confused by, etc.
- Parent Signature

Check out the WPS Summer Reading website for more options or to download a Reading Log!

When reading don't forget to ask yourself...

Who, What, Where, When, Why, and How

Step 3: Read, Read, READ!

Relax, enjoy a good book, and have fun! Achieve your goals: Where can I read? When can I read? What do I like about the story? And remember, if it is a great book, recommend it to a friend!

Read at least 20 minutes every day!

Get Ready to CELEBRATE!

Remember to bring your completed activities to share with your new teacher and classmates on the first day of school!
