

THE NEW SOUTH HIGH DESIGN CLUB

South High Community School and Lamoureux Pagano Associates and Architects created a new after school club bringing an exciting opportunity for the students to participate in the design of their new school, scheduled to open in 2021. For the after school club, the students were presented with 5 design challenges that celebrate the school's rich history and South High's diverse community. Design Veritas's Created Impact, a social impact and design program has partnered with the school and architects to empower the students with a 21st century creative design process with invited speakers and local community collaborations. The New South High Design Club is an excellent opportunity to engage with the architects, learn 21st century design skills, and allow the students to leave their mark on the design of the new school lobby while inspiring future South High students for generations to come.

THE 5 CHALLENGES

1. Visual School Entrance Display - All About South High: Bring Your Culture to South High

This challenge is open for students to find the best way to showcase the school, themselves and their culture as part of a 2 D and 3-D display to be incorporated in the new school lobby entrance. The challenge is to find the best medium and format to display culture and the students, alumni, faculty that make up the rich diversity of South High's community through design. The Design Challenge can also incorporate all the different departments and school offerings (Ex. Andy's Attic, ROTC) that South High provides as well as celebrating the South High Community. Presenter: Gianna Caforio

2. History Wall

South High comes with a rich history and we would like to bring this history into the new school. There are many archived items - from trophies to year books to photographs to name a few. The design challenge is to design a timeline of sort that will allow visitors, alumni and students to see the history displayed and get an understanding of South High's beginnings. You will work with the history teacher and filter through relevant information and artifacts that best showcase South High. You will then design the history wall with your creativity, innovations and ideas and present this to the Architect's Design Team for a chance to have your design be a part of the New School Lobby Design.

Presenters: Julie Do, Tia Tomco, Miles Appleton

3. Digital Wall

South High has a rich diversity with various cultures. We would like to use the digital medium to convey South High stories - from past to present. This design Challenge has students work with the media and videography teacher to use technology to showcase South High. How else can we use this medium to engage and enrich the students? This challenge is open to students imagination and digital media skills to see what format would be used to for the digital wall. Presenter: Iteolawakissi Talabi

4. Word Wall

Phase 1 of the Art Lobby Project consisted of essays that were done during International Week in April. The topic consisted of 'What does the South High Community mean to you?' The Design Challenge is to create a word wall that will extract and incorporate ideas from these essays to be a part of the new school design. Presenter: Eliana Lamptey

5. Lobby Mural Wall - All About South High: Bring Your Culture to South High

This Challenge is to create a South High 'Community' mural that will be an integral part of the Lobby. Presenters: Julie Do, Tia Tomco, Miles Appleton

Special Thanks to:

South High: Mr. Ben Adwetewa-Badu, Mr. Jeffrey Creamer, Mrs. Maureen Binienda,

LPAA: Katie Crockett, Eric Moore, Ben Senecal, Chris Lee, Sean Brennan

Design Veritas/Created Impact: Navneet Anand New England School of Protocol: Nikki Sawney