

Superintendent's Artist of the Week April 12, 2021 Kahlia Parker WTHS Class of 2024

"I think my dream is to really influence people for the better and make an impact on at least one person's life."

Kahlia Parker is our first ninth grade student Superintendent's Artist of the Week. She was nominated by the Painting and Design teacher, Ms. Jennifer Rochon because Kahlia possesses incredible skill and an eagerness to learn.

Ms. Rochon says, "I have been impressed with her rendering abilities, but even more so I commend her for her desire to improve herself. While maintaining and completing the work that is already required as part of the curriculum for class, she also finds time to do numerous additional portraits and other drawings, as she realizes that we learn by doing, and is eager for feedback from her teachers and peers. She is only at the beginning of her four year program in Painting & Design, and I can't wait to see what the future holds for Kahlia, as she takes the feedback from group critiques and one-on-one discussions, and implements these ideas into her work.

Kahlia will go far, not only for her innate ability to draw with precision, but also for her mature attitude at welcoming constructive criticisms, which she realizes will only help her to grow and improve."

Ms. Rochon continues, " Good luck on your path Kahlia, I can't wait to see what the future holds for you!"
